Editor's Corner

Amazingly, it is already the fall and time for The Bulletin in all its BCS glory. This is one publication in many that helps the School communicate with you – our community. Excellence in communication is a moving target and one that is only achieved through a flexible and interactive approach. After measuring and reviewing our communication efforts from last year, we will continue to improve our program.

You may have noticed that our discussion about using technology in our communications has been fairly consistent over the last three Bulletins. During this coming year, we will be publishing, on a bi-monthly basis, a revamped and more user-friendly E-Tie that will cover school news, alumni events and other areas of interest.

Our website (www.bishopscollegeschool.com) is active and we work very hard to keep it as timely and relevant as possible. Here are some new features you can find on the website through our “keep in touch” page:

- You can post and read class notes
- You can search by profession

With so much activity on the website, I highly recommend that you add the BCS site to your list of favorites and visit it on a regular basis.

We have launched Project E-mail in an effort to collect as many addresses as possible. We are determined to strengthen our on-line community for two reasons. First, we will be able to stay in better contact with you if we are able to send you publications on-line, such as the BCS E-Tie. Second, to reduce operating costs. So how do you help us in our efforts? Simply send us your e-mail address and you will be added to our list. Please rest assured that we safeguard all contact information and will not bombard you with e-mail messages. That is my promise to you!

I invite you to take the time to read The Bulletin, find out what BCS is accomplishing and to pass on our great story to your friends and colleagues.

From the Headmaster

Lewis Evans (BCS '65)

It is difficult adequately to explain my feelings as I take on the job of Headmaster of BCS after 27 years of working here, not to mention the years before that! When Robert Ross drew me into Development 13 years ago, I thought: what a place this is! I can have a career change without leaving my place of work!

Now, I say again: what a place this is!

To say BCS has been good to me is to understate the case. And now, this opportunity to take the BCS helm, buoyed up by a surge of support from colleagues and friends and friends who are colleagues, I am not only determined to bring to BCS the world-class reputation it already deserves, but utterly confident that we will do just that.

On September 4th, I addressed our new students and their parents. I told them that an independent school education is the second biggest personal investment that people make – second to their homes; that, while our homes are investments in our families' present, education is an investment in our children's future. They invested well.

Indeed they have.

I described BCS as one of the oldest schools in Canada, as a small school on a big campus, a school that draws its students from all around the world; a school that provides an excellent, rigorous, challenging academic program, that offers wonderful artistic and athletic opportunities, that teaches moral and social responsibility through its Round Square program and through its chaplaincy.

Then, with the faculty and administration beside me, I told the parents what they could expect from us, from Faculty and Houseparents, from me and, because this is a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week boarding school, and from everybody who works here at BCS. They can expect us to take care of their children, to set an example that deserves to be followed, to give each child individual attention, and to deal with each student with fairness and understanding.

I told the new students that they should expect us to care about their learning and growth, to praise their successes, to hold them accountable for their mistakes, to be understanding, and I told them that they could never expect us to accept anything short of their best effort.

Our motto is Recti Cultus Pectora Roborant: Right Learnings Strengthen the Character. It takes character to give one's best effort day after day, week after week, month after month... but that's what we do – and that's what we expect our students to do.

BCS is what it is today because of the generosity of many people. The hole in the quad (see the cover) – and the $6.3 million that is being spent to build a new theatre department, a new music department, a new library, a new student centre and a completely renovated science wing – is there because generous people believe in BCS.

I believe in BCS, not just because I work here, not just because I went here, but because I know it and I see what it has to offer.

I see the sense of community gained through Morning Chapel, the attention given in small classes, the creativity and commitment of our teachers, the strengthening development of compulsory sports, the discipline reluctantly learned in Cadets, the courageous flair nurtured in the Arts, and, when day is done, the deep, life-long friendships begun in the houses.

A boarding school is a place where the teachers work well beyond the basics and where the students – boarders and day students alike – reap the benefits of this leadership.

For those of us who work in schools, students, teachers and staff, September is a time of new beginnings. It is a time of frightened steps into an unknown future and a time of excited reuniting of old friends, together again after a summer on opposite sides of the world. For some, it is a time to build on the successes of previous years and for others, another chance to get it right, once and for all.

I finished my talk to the new students by urging them to use these years, enjoy them, appreciate them.

I said:

"If you attack your time at BCS with the attitude that you are going to get out of it everything there is to get, your high school years will be as good as they could be anywhere.

"And in years to come, when people ask you where you went to school, tell them BCS. And when they ask what BCS is, tell them it's the best school in the country.

"You can do better than that" I said, "You come from around the world... and we up here are proud of that – and of you for coming to us.

"Tell them you went to the world's favourite boarding school."

From the Board Chair

At the School's opening meeting with new students and parents, our new Headmaster invited students to talk about BCS, their School, as "the world's favourite boarding school".

Lewis Evans, the faculty and staff are determined to make BCS just that. As you will see from his article in this Bulletin, Lewis is attacking his first year with energy and vision, while raising the bar for everyone associated with the School. It is an exciting and dynamic time to be at BCS.

As the year starts, BCS has 264 students, up from 232 last year. The houses are full, but not stretching at the seams. All faculty now have laptops and there will be an on-line reporting system to keep parents in touch with their children's progress.

As the cover of this Bulletin shows, there is a great hole where the old student centre and theatre were. New construction has begun, replacing these facilities and adding a new library, music and science facilities, all of which are to be ready by next September.

These efforts are being made to take the School toward the vision of the School Lewis outlined:

- a small school on a big campus,
- that draws its students from all around the world,
- that provides an excellent, rigorous, challenging academic program,
- that offers wonderful artistic and athletic opportunities,
- that teaches moral and social responsibility,
- that gives its students individual attention, with fairness and understanding.

Much of the excitement at BCS is the direct result of the hard work of our employees, volunteers and supporters in recent years.

The building, and new endowments for scholarships and faculty development, have been paid for through our 20/20 Vision Capital Campaign, which raised over $15 million and ended officially in June with the turning of the first sod for the new building. I would again like to thank all those whose belief in BCS and generosity have made this possible.

The School experienced a very constructive and positive transition period following the announcement of Lewis Evans's appointment in February. Last year, 100% of our graduating students won university acceptance, and the percentage of students returning to school has risen consistently, reflecting the quality of the BCS experience in every area. In June, the Board expressed its thanks to Nancy Layton for her eight years as Head of School with a beautiful painting of the Eastern Townships, by Sarah Peck Colby (KHC '65).

Our new Headmaster (for he has returned to the traditional usage) has set out a vision, a worthy objective to be achieved, one which all those who have experienced the positive benefits of a BCS education will understand. In his speech to the new students, Lewis refers to Sir Francis Drake's prayer for strength to carry on till the matter is fully finished. BCS is our favourite boarding school; like Sir Francis, we hope to conquer the world with excellence on a small scale, through determination, sustained effort and skillful navigation.

We wish Lewis and all those who sail in the BCS ship godspeed and continuing success on the journey, and invite everyone in the BCS community to get on board!

Doug Patriquin (BCS '64)

Board Chair

HOW A GRADUATE FROM BCS MADE IT IN HOLLYWOOD, PARIS AND CHICOUTIMI.

BCS is a world-class independent boarding school. Every year, a small number of students head out into the world. In 1981 it was Michel Murdock. Today, he runs one of the most respected visual effects firms that worked on films such as Spy Kids and Napolean. The world is an incredible place. For years, BCS has provided a world-class education to a multi-cultural mix of talented students who come from Montreal to Malaysia and all points in between. There's no other high school experience like it.

Top Students from 2002–2003

BCS Tankard Recipients

Armen Bakirtzian
Attended BCS:

Armen's modesty, quiet authority, wide spread participation in school affairs, ability to stay focused on the job at hand and his all round enthusiasm will be missed.

Jeewon Kim is now studying Chemistry at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire. Some of you will remember Jeewon as one of those versatile, talented people who excel in many fields. Besides being one of the top science students in her graduating class, Jeewon managed to score a 5 on her AP (Advanced Placement) English Literature exam. Getting the top mark on an AP English exam normally signals a student's brilliance and mastery of the language, no mean feat for someone studying in their second language. Jeewon studied two years at BCS, all her previous high school years having been spent in Korea.

Peter Laratta, now at the University of Toronto, enrolled in the most academically challenging engineering program, featuring a curriculum designed for lateral thinkers. It attracts the top-engineering students from around the world. The prestige of this program is such that Peter gave up the opportunity to attend Princeton University in order to attend U of T. Peter was the School's top academic achiever in 2003 with class results over 90 percent across the board. He still managed to find the time to play football, take part in a Drama production, and was a member of the BCS Smart Ask team during his graduating year.

Marie-Pier Desbiens is a student at Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island. She is in the Pre-Med program and well on her way to fulfilling her long-standing dream of becoming a physician. Nevertheless, we all know that Marie-Pier has a lot of hockey to play before then. A superb goalie, Marie-Pier played on our senior hockey team as well as playing on a AA hockey team outside of school. Brown is proud to have her, and she has already been featured on the college's website.

Armen Bakirtzian studies Mechatronics Engineering at the University of Waterloo. This new program combines mechanical engineering, electronics and computer science. We believe he belongs with the best and the brightest. Apart from performing academically, Armen was a devoted Prefect and served the BCS chapel for many years.

Youna Zhang attends Trinity College at the University of Toronto and is studying in Humanities. She is interested in Journalism and International Affairs, and performs well in three languages – English, French and Chinese. Youna is a spirited, dynamic, and determined young woman. Everywhere you looked at BCS last year, there was Youna. She organized everybody and everything, and was involved in every major activity the School was holding.

—Illoma Carr

John Colton
Attended BCS: 1997–2003
John's endeavours reflected maturity, modesty, consideration for others, and a capacity to see all tasks to their completion.

Courtney Dowd
Attended: 2002–2003
Determined to do her best at all times, Courtney benefited from all that BCS had to offer, and, in return, gave much back to the School.

Eric Inoue
Attended: 1997–2003
Eric is one of the very few students to earn a tankard in both Form VI and VII. These tankards recognize Eric's outstanding qualities and his contribution to BCS.

Megan Irving
Attended: 1998–2003
Megan contributed to school life, especially in the fields of drama, music, athletics, service to others and creative writing.

Youna Zhang
Attended: 1999–2003
Throughout her BCS career she displayed many admirable qualities which she has maintained both in academics and in her extracurricular activities.

20/20 Vision Capital Campaign – a success!

On Friday, June 20, at BCS, while the campus was abuzz with the usual end-of-school activities, graduation and awards ceremonies, there was, on a patch of grass, an unusually large crowd gathered for a moment all had been dreaming of for three years. A groundbreaking ceremony was being held to mark the end of the most successful Capital Campaign ever held at the School, and to mark the beginning of a new era.

Senator Molson was the spark that fired up the 20/20 Vision campaign by generously giving BCS what was, at that time, the largest single gift ever given to an independent school. He gave $5 million without condition. He only stipulated that the money be used wisely, and that others be encouraged to give generously. The School did, and surpassed its objective, moving well beyond the $15 million target.

Representing the late Senator Hartland Molson at the event was his youngest grandson the Honourable Max Hardinge.

In his address to the audience the Honourable Hardinge expressed that Senator Molson would be proud of BCS, and proud of our community for rallying together for the betterment of what is a truly remarkable School.

Campaign Chair Pat Webster proudly agreed.

"The School has succeeded. The students have succeeded," she exclaimed. "But while we dreamt about this moment with excitement, there was also a certain trepidation. Raising $15,000,000 was a big challenge and many doubted our ability to achieve it. We knew that our chances were good, but only with a lot of hard work and cooperation, and with a lot of support, from everyone: old boys and old girls, board members, parents, faculty and students.

"Our first campaign chairman was David Johnston, former principle of McGill University and now President of the University of Waterloo – and BCS parent, five times over. He described this campaign as possibly the most successful of any independent school in Canada: an average of more than $60,000 per student.

"David and Sharon Johnston resigned as campaign co-chairs when David became President of University of Waterloo. They were succeeded by Peter White and mid-way through the campaign I joined Peter as co-chair. It is my happy privilege to thank these individuals for all their work. Throughout, the campaign has been led by a wonderful committee. Bill Borntraeger, Sue Chadwick, Kip Cobbett, François de Sainte Marie, Timon Deichmann, Rae Heenan, Sass Khazam, Brad Mitchell, Tim Price, Bill Stavert. And then there is the dedication and determination of our two school campaign leaders – Nancy Layton and Lewis Evans. What a team!

"Together – and let me include in that all of you who have helped in so many ways – together we've done it. We have raised over $15 million for BCS. We have provided the means for the school to do what it does so well – educating young men and women of distinction. And while this moment marks an end, it also marks a beginning. Of construction yes, but also the beginning of an opportunity. An opportunity for us to give back in some way a part of what we have gained from our engagement with this extraordinary institution.

"Our continuing commitment to BCS is vitally important. It's a commitment of spirit and loyalty. It is a commitment of money. In the months and years ahead, you will continue to be asked to support the School through Annual Giving and other fundraising projects and it is my hope that you will continue to find your reasons to say yes. Clearly this moment shows that you have found those reasons in the past. Looking around, it is easy to see why. The true value that BCS offers is in front of us – students ready to take on the world.

And so it is with great pride that I declare this 20/20 Vision Capital Campaign to be closed."

BCS would like to take this opportunity to thank Pat Webster for her dedication, love of the School and belief in what we are trying to accomplish. She not only supported and guided the campaign, but made it soar to a level of success that we dared only dream of – Pat has been nothing short of inspirational.

Sue Chadwick enjoys Groundbreaking with, from the left, her husband Andrew de Courcy-Ireland, Doug Patriquin (BCS '64) and David Stenason (BCS '75).

"It has possibly been the most successful [campaign] of any independent school in Canada: an average of more than $60,000 raised per student."

The New Advancement Department

The new Advancement Team.

There is a debate going within these brick walls about who has the best job in the world. Our Headmaster believes he does, our teachers are convinced they do, but the gang in the Advancement Department – now made up of the Admissions and Development and Communications teams – knows that it is, in fact, us.

We are mandated to spread the news about BCS, keep Alumni in touch with one another and with the School, and convince parents and potential students that this is indeed the school of choice, and it is.

A new school year has begun and that means a new slew of social gatherings, reunions tournaments, and recruitment events will be held around the world and we'll be there as your hosts (see "A Year at a Glance" and "Admissions" for details).

Development

As fun as our job sounds, there's a great deal of responsibility as well. Development and Communications must also oversee and plan fundraising campaigns, be they annual or capital, and solicit Alumni, parents, and friends to give to BCS. We take this mandate very seriously. But, we know BCS delivers excellence year after year.

We believe in our School. In fact, faculty, administration and staff believe so strongly in BCS that their contribution to Annual Giving is greater than ever before this year. And, with the capital campaign over, we hope that everyone's attention will shift back to the annual campaign as well.

The campaign has always been, and continues to be, instrumental in financing a portion of costs associated with BCS programs, extracurricular activities, financial assistance, operations and other pressing needs.

In a recent survey, donors let us know that they wanted to know more precisely where their money is going, especially when giving to the School's Immediate Needs.

We are listening.

This year we have outlined the School's most immediate needs, including technology, renovations, sports, and more. And, in coming years, we will move towards project-specific annual fundraising campaigns giving contributors more of a say in directing their donations.

Our objective is to raise $200,000 by June 31, 2004. We are also finding ways to make it easier to give to Annual Giving. Donations can now be made through the BCS website (now a secured site), by automatic withdrawals, by credit card or simply by sending a cheque. There are even tax advantages when including BCS in life-insurance policies.

Communications

As for communications, we continue to improve our program.

The BCS Bulletin will soon be revamped, and despite the move to more electronic communications it will remain one of the most important means of keeping our community informed.

Its first year proved successful, but we will keep improving the BCS E-Tie, making it more reader friendly, with images and fun news about the day-to-day happenings at the School. The BCS E-Tie is published by-monthly on the School's website and is aimed primarily at current parents and students but it's a fun read for all.

As for the outside world, we are embarking on a new publicity campaign this fall, featuring our stars – BCS Alumni (see page 3). We will proudly be letting the outside world know that we are indeed "the world's favourite boarding school."

—Theo Brinckman

The new concept chosen for the marketing/advertising campaign for the 2004–2005 recruiting cycle is more than a slogan.

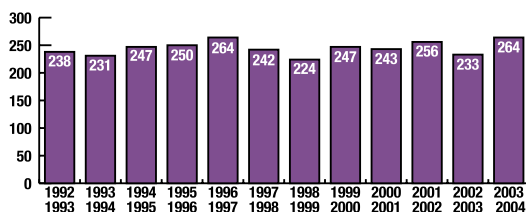

As we opened our doors this week to a record enrolment of 264, the truth of the statement could be seen in the faces of the students and their parents. We are the school of choice for 153 Canadian students and 111 international students who represent 22 other countries.

Notwithstanding smaller student numbers last year – we had a great year. Students excelled and thrived; Houseparents cared and nurtured and teachers shaped great minds. BCS parents realized the benefits of their investment. As a result, most students chose to return to BCS. This high rate of retention is the key to full enrolment. By maintaining strong re-enrolment levels, Admissions is able to be even more selective in choosing new students who will fit well into the BCS experience.

Our best ambassadors for BCS continue to be the BCS family. Alumni, parents, students and friends of the School spread the word to help us recruit the best new students.

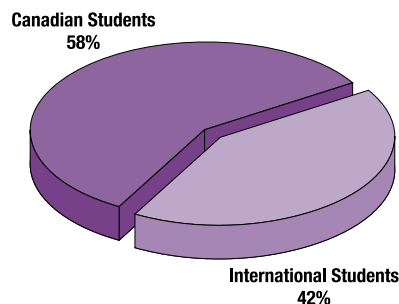

Our primary goal in Admissions this year will be to reach full enrolment by April 30th.

—Maggie George

BCS Enrolment 1992–2003

The School is full this September. We have had a waiting list for applicants since the end of June 2003. This situation is remarkable given that last year’s opening enrolment was only 232 students. Recruiting new students during a year filled with SARS, struggling world economies, and the military and political situation in the Middle East, was especially challenging.

BCS Hosts its Community

AGM...Toronto...London NYC...Boston

John Reid (BCS '71), Michael Zinay (BCS '71), Peter Smith (BCS '72), Michael Lacasse (BCS '71) and Himal Mathew (BCS '77) reunite at the Montreal AGM.

Jacqueline Scott (BCS '84) with Patrick Stoker (BCS '38) enjoying the AGM.

Lewis Evans, Headmaster, and Rodney Clark (BCS '69) hosting the Toronto reunion.

The BCS social circuit over the past year was a whirlwind of gatherings spiced by the international flavour of our community. Montreal was only one of the many destinations BCS was a part of, but it is where the season began.

The ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING held in October 2002, was an evening of high drama and very well dressed Alumni (see photo of Patrick Stoker). Lewis Evans and Pat Webster cranked up the event with high energy and an eye-catching presentation of the 20/20 Vision Capital Campaign. Nancy Layton offered a heartfelt message on what she would, and would not, miss about BCS while

Doug Patriquin kept the business of the evening swift and efficient. Annually, the globetrotting classes of '71 and '72 traveled from New York City, Ottawa and Toronto to attend the AGM and last year was no exception. They not only caught up on BCS news but had a chance to hit the town once the official BCS evening was over. This certainly was no run of the mill annual meeting.

Next on the jet-setting tour was TORONTO in November, and for the third year in a row the event was held at one of the hottest restaurant spots in the city – Rodney's Oyster House. Rodney Clark (BCS '69) was the perfect host and all who attended delighted in his establishment's fresh food and warm atmosphere. David Stenason (BCS '75), Vice Chair of the BCS Association, traveled from Montreal to meet and greet fellow Alumni while talking up the incredible success of the capital campaign.

HOCKEY has taken on a new meaning amongst Alumni. The Friends of BCS Hockey club has been gaining in popularity over the last few years and the January Hockey Homecoming was a testament to the sport's place in our hearts. Neil Cunningham (BCS '77) is the man-in-the-know about the club and he is eager to welcome new members. More than forty of the faithful laced up their skates for a friendly tournament. There is even rumour that Lewis Evans scored a goal or two. Can it be true?

As mid-winter set in, the Alumni Association decided to let loose and organize a FEBRUARY BLUES BASH in Montreal. This casual, fun gathering has been growing in popularity over the last three years. It seems that there is nothing like sharing a glass of cheer with fellow BCS Alumni to ward off the winter chills. Amanda Jelowicki (BCS '93) was seen surrounded by a group of admiring young men (see photo) as her distinctive laugh rocked the joint.

Nathalie Saad (BCS '97) and Michael Zinay (BCS '72) catch up at the Montreal event.

David Stenason (BCS '75) and William Stenason (BCS '80) enjoy some family time after playing hard in the Alumni Hockey Tournament.

Cole Bradley, Josh Cundill and Monty Price, all Class of '92, take in some BCS hockey games.

From the left: Amanda Jelowicki (BCS '93), Alex Cobbett (BCS '94), Chuck Marleau (BCS '94), Steve Shashoua (BCS '94) beat the February blues.

John and Louise (BCS '66) Moses.

And then it was off to LONDON, ENGLAND for a British trip of the BCS kind. Lewis and Cathy Evans along with Maggie George, Director of Admissions hosted an event to introduce our new Headmaster. Yes, Lewis welcomed himself as only he could do! Jonathon Howson (BCS '77) was instrumental in helping organize this event and the School thanks him for his enthusiasm and time.

In April, Maggie George, Lewis Evans and Theo Brinckman braved fierce rain storms and New England highways to continue the BCS meeting and greeting in BOSTON and NEW YORK CITY. Event planners, Diana Blakley (KHC '63), David

Murchison (BCS '72) and Peter Smith (BCS '75) infused both enthusiasm and BCS goodwill to the almost 100 guests who attended the two evenings.

In May, the NATION'S CAPITAL and BCS met. Doug Patriquin invited Alumni and friends to a celebration of the School at the Ottawa Rideau Club. Nancy Layton reminisced about her eight years as Head of School, Lewis Evans proudly claimed he had "the best job in the world" while Valerie Scullion, Associate Director of Admissions, stressed the importance of word-of-mouth recommendations in their recruiting efforts. The Class of '83 had a great showing with Heather Mackinnon, Nick Ferguson and Jane Collin Ferguson (BCS '63).

The Oldland brothers, Jeremy, Chris and Nick, kindly donated very hip and cutting edge golf t-shirts to all participants (see photo). The School would like to thank the Alumni Association for their role as tournament organizers and keen supporters. Keep your

That wraps up the social highlights for BCS. All events held a common spirit and yet were distinct in themselves. BCS certainly is the world's favourite boarding school – amongst our Alumni and friends – if spirit and dedication are a measurement.

KHC '63 is on the move in Montreal, BCS and KHC

After almost a year of planning, the KHC Class of 1963 celebrated their 40-year reunion and their spirits couldn't have been higher.

Attendees: Callie Archer Bell; Jean Baggs; Dilin McLernon Baker; Anne Evans Belton; Emily Black; Di Russell Blakely; Margot Cowen; Jennifer Eardley Croome; Cathy Wooton Danforth; Lindy Peck Farrell; Jeanie Trudeau Fenn; Lalage Wright Hackett; Shireen Finch Hall; Dodi Hornig; Kathy MacCulloch; Martha Cassils McDonald; Esther Franklin MacLeod; Susan Marpole; Pam Fletcher

On the steps of Plantation, the KHC Class of '63 reminiscing about their school days, lasting friendships and unforgettable reunions.

McCurdy; Claudia Dewar Montgomery; Tony Sharp Newman; Janet Burgoyne Partridge; Mary Cape Usher-Jones; Sue Clark Kelly; and Elizabeth Cook Parker.

The weekend began on Friday, May 9th at the home of Rae Heenan (KHC '55), Kathy MacCulloch's sister. Saturday morning, 17 classmates boarded a bus for the Townships and after a few mishaps, and a one-hour delay, they finally made it out of the city. Lewis Evans, Theo Brinckman and Lyne Labrecque met the class at BCS, but the true star was Christiana Fizet (Form VI) who toured the ladies around campus and delighted them with her humour and poise. Gilly would approve. Lunch was held at the Plantation and hosted by Nancy Layton, Head of School. The group headed to King's Hall to visit the old campus that some had not visited in 40 years. The weekend ended with a dinner in Montreal.

A special thanks go to organizers Mary Usher Jones, Janet Partridge and Kathy MacCulloch and to all those who attended this great "forty years on" reunion.

GILLARD LECTURE SERIES

On November 22, Jean Charest (Premier of Quebec) spoke to the students and staff of BCS. He was invited as part of the Gillard Lecture series, which allows the School to invite presenters who have a powerful and distinct message. Jean Charest spoke about his distinguished career in law and politics as well as how important it is to hold true to core values. He admitted that it is not always an easy job but one that he has found both fulfilling and challenging. His talk was followed by a question and answer period.

KHC Class of '53

The class started to arrive on Friday, September 12th and those in town that night went to Le Paris for dinner. Saturday morning, September 13th, a group visited the Mosai-culture Internation Exhibition 2003 on the Lachine Canal. After the exhibition, everyone headed to Penny Pasmore Baudinet's for lunch. All met again in Le Senateur Bar of the Chateau Champlain until we left for the Hillside Tennis Club. Linda Gordon Barber arranged a wonderful dinner on the terrace. It was a beautiful night and lovely eating outside, but I am not sure what surrounding tenants made of all the noise. It was decided at dinner that we should have another reunion in three years. On Sunday morning, we met for breakfast at the Chateau Champlain. It was a wonderful weekend, which made the 50 years disappear. If laughter heals, we are all in much better health!

KHC Notes

KHC '40

Nancy Logan Parker has been a school tour guide at Cox in Dayton, Ohio for the past 25 years.

On July 24th, Joan Spafford Robins paid a visit to BCS and our new Headmaster Lewis Evans. He gave her a tour of his new office and the 20/20 Vision Capital Campaign building site. Joan lives in Sudbury, Massachusetts.

KHC '45

Shirley Erskine Westcott wrote: "I am living in golf and tennis heaven. I am back on the tennis courts after two hip replacements. I have four children – 2 boys and 2 girls. Five grandchildren. Our 54th wedding anniversary is coming up. We enjoy travelling when time permits. At the moment we are being outsmarted by a tiny, stubborn westie puppy."

KHC '60

Judy House LeMoine e-mailed:

"Just once I'd like to attend the Thanksgiving gathering. Alas, it will not be this year as I'll be in the midst of moving. Having recently retired from the hotel business here in St. John's, NF, I've bought a B&B about an hour's drive away in the picturesque community of Upper Island Cove. I'll be right on the ocean and that excites me beyond description! Anyone looking for a peaceful getaway, especially anyone from KHC '60, would love it and I'd be delighted to see them. My new address is: Hermitage House, P.O.Box 487, Upper Island Cove, NF, A0A 4E0. Toll free # 1-888-689-3131"

KHC '65

Pinkle Sturgeon paid BCS a visit in July. She continues to work at Bishop Strachan School in Toronto.

KHC '69

Martha Cressy Corcoran gave birth to Nicholas Raymond on April 10, 2003. Proud father is David Corcoran.

KHC '70

☞ Maureen Grisdale Blackler e-mailed:

"I am looking for the 'Seven Stooges' and everyone else in my class! Come on now, we are getting on...it would be fun and no doubt interesting to hear what you are up to. Brenda, Poppy, Kathy, Dawn, Seymour, Francie, (farewell Lizzy), etc, etc."

Bart MacDougall between Art and Helen Campbell.

Edward Goodhue (BCS '39) with his daughter and son-in-law.

BCS Notes

Faculty

Arthur P. Campbell (retired housemaster of Williams House and Head of Science Department) celebrated his 80th Birthday on February 8, 2003. Art continues to thrive in the Gaspé Peninsula and to enjoy ornithology, geneology, gardening, and the study of history.

BCS '39

On September 22, 2003 Edward Goodhue paid a visit to BCS with his daughter and son-in-law. He lives in Ottawa and assists his family in their catering business. Ed was delighted to visit his old haunts and to share his memories of BCS with his daughter. Theo Brinckman took them on a tour of the School and it turned out that Ed attended BCS at the same time as Theo's great-uncle Selwyn Blaylock (BCS '44).

"I took early retirement in 1996 after 27 years at Ryerson University, the last seven as its president. Since then, I have been an active volunteer with Trinity College, at the radio station CJRT-FM (now JAZZ FM), and with the New Democratic Party. My wife Ruth, also retired, was an elected municipal and provincial politician for twenty-five years, ending up as Minister of Environment, and then of Health, in the Rae's Ontario government. We have three sons and nine grandchildren, and have lived in Toronto since 1966. Of old BCS chums, the only one I see regularly is my old Smith House roomie Bill McKeown, now retired from the Federal Court. I enjoy golf, cross-country skiing, walking, classical music, and reading history and biography. Delighted that Lewis Evans is the new headmaster: I remember him as a little boy running around Smith House – we called him 'Whooshie'."

"2002 was also when I had the dubious pleasure of being able to add 'dengue fever' to my list of experiences. Delirium, intense pain in every bone and muscle, and high fever marked my six weeks of hospital stay and bed rest, so I was glad to be able to take a two-month break vacationing in Indonesia during November and December. ### Lord William Shaughnessy 1922–2003

A military service was held on Sunday, September 21, for the Honourable Lord William Shaughnessy (BCS '38) who died of pneumonia on May 22, at the age of 81. His ashes now rest in the National Field of Honour in Pointe Claire.

Although he was one of few Canadians to have sat in Britain's House of Lords, it is said that Lord Shaughnessy was prouder of his accomplishments as a soldier with the Canadian Grenadier Guards, the regiment with which he served in World War II, than his royal title.

It is while attending BCS that the young Shaughnessy, known as Shag by his school peers, succeeded to his father's title as Lord in 1938. Son Michael, and daughters Marion and Brigid survive Lord Shaughnessy.

Headmaster Lewis Evans, BCS Cadet Christiana Fizet, and a number of Old Boys who had remained life-long friends with Lord Shaughnessy attended the service.

But I shall remember most of it all

—Peter G. Holt (BCS '41)

Nathalie Arnold,
Associate Director of Development and Communications

There's a hole in the Quad that I am growing fond of. One day, soon, in its place, built on a solid foundation, will stand a majestic structure. Within this building's walls will echo the sound of music, books will be read, scenes will be rehearsed, and its halls will be filled by the voices and laughter of bustling students.

In its 167-year history, BCS has seen its campus evolve constantly, always, thanks to the philanthropic nature, the vision, and the strong camaraderie of the School's Old Boys and Old Girls, parents and friends. Peter G. Holt was such an Old Boy who wanted to give back to the School and offer a gift by which he would be remembered long after he was gone. He wrote about his ties to BCS,

"The chain of ivy all over the wall, the blare of the bugles on Saturday morn,... I shall remember most of it all."

In 1951, 10 years after his death, the Peter G. Holt Library was opened. He is now part of our heritage, part of our foundation.

In 1986, on a summer visit to Tadoussac, I met the man who would later become Headmaster at a school that was, at the time, little known to me. He, his wife, and his children made a lasting impression on me. To a young French girl from Val David, a small town in the Laurentians, they struck me as regal, warm, intellectual, and nurturing. Lewis Evans at the time was Houseparent at Smith House where Scott Stevenson (BCS '85), my boyfriend, lived during his last year at BCS. In a single day spent with this family, I too was building ties, a foundation to an institution that would one day reward me with a career. How funny life is.

Lewis is to me, and will always remain (because of that summer), what BCS stands for. He wanders the halls calmly and dignified as if the walls were built in order to surround him, just as they have done since he was a babe. How can I possibly compete with such history, with such an inherited sense of belonging?

I met Theodora Brinckman (BCS '84) in 1994. Scott and I were living in Aylmer, Quebec at the time but thinking of moving to the Townships with our 1-year-old daughter, Verity. I am not normally a shy person, but in our first meeting, faced with the strength of character and awesome personality that Theo is, I was incredibly shy. We moved, and we have been faithful friends ever since, shyness gone. Our children will attend BCS in a couple of years and continue to build on their heritage together.

The cement foundation in the quad is slowly taking shape. I can now picture how the building's exterior walls will look, and how its arms will link the main schoolhouse to the science building and gymnasium as though they had always been there.

...and so shall my foundation build.

Thank you for granting me the honour of working at your School ...at our remarkable School.
